

HELEN ROGERS BRIDE-ELECT CENTRE OF SOCIAL WHIRL

Luncheons and Showers, Bridges and Teas Staged by Many Friends of Girl To Be Married Next Saturday to Mr. Thomas Parkinson

Miss Helen Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Rogers of "Penryth," Summit Dr., whose marriage takes place on Saturday next to Mr. Thomas Parkinson, son of Mrs. Matthew Parkinson, has been much entertained during the last few weeks. Miss Ellen Shaw entertained Miss Rogers at a small luncheon; Miss Margaret Armstrong gave a jam and pickle shower; Miss Frances Lea, a tea and utility shower; Mrs. Harry Fairhead, tea and kitchen shower; Miss Helen Dingle and Miss Marjory Jones gave a luncheon at the University Women's club and the guests presented Miss Rogers with a white china and salad set. Miss Helen Dignan, bridge and crystal shower; Mrs. Newman Fairhead, tea and cup and saucer shower; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elder miscellaneous shower. Miss Helen Lamon, luncheon at the Carlton club, and bathroom shower; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanley, a supper party in Kitchener where the couple were presented with two bridge tables. Mrs. Matthew Parkinson, mother of the groom, entertained Miss Rogers at tea and during the afternoon the guests hemmed tea towels for the bride-elect. Miss Jean Rowe entertained at a buffet supper for the couple. The boys of Mr. Parkinson's Sunday school class and the girls of Miss Rogers' class gave a joint supper party for the couple and presented them with an electric clock. Miss Annette Parker and Miss Marjorie Proctor gave a bridge and "white gift shower." Miss Madeline Cagne, a bridge; Miss Jane Blachford, handkerchief shower; Mrs. George Aykroyd, a luncheon and presented Miss Rogers with a lovely water color. Miss Viola Bowley also entertained the bride-elect.

Mrs. T. G. Rogers entertained for her daughter, Miss Helen Rogers, a bride-to-be of this week at a trousseau tea. Mrs. Rogers looked lovely in a beige chiffon and lace dress with purple violets and Miss Rogers, who will attend the dinner include: Major and Mrs. J. H. Chipman, Mr. and Mrs. George Mara, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. H. McBrien, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boland, Col. and Mrs. Bartlett Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Torrance, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Weld, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Sproat, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Anderson are joint hostesses at a party before the Big Bay Point Golf club dance next week.

GEORGE GIBSON WEDS MISS WINNIFRED BEER

Deer Park United Church Is Scene of Pretty Ceremony

An interesting marriage was solemnized Saturday at Deer Park United church, when Winnifred Eileen Beer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Beer, became the bride of Mr. George Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Gibson. Rev. H. J. Mackay officiated, with Mr. John Lynn at the organ. Palms were banked in the front of the church and the guests' pews marked with white ribbon bows. During the signing of the register Mr. Lawrence Dafoe sang "Love's Coronation." The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming long flowing gown of romance blue chiffon, an off-the-face hat of the same color topped with flowers to match her bridal bouquet of talisman roses and powder blue sweet peas. Miss Dorothy Groff attended her in cerise chiffon with hat of deeper shade of velvet, and carried Johanna Hill roses and snapdragons. Mr. Frank Green was best man and Mr. Fred Beer, brother of the bride, and Mr. Jack Scott, were ushers. A reception was held later at the Old Mill, Mrs. Beer welcoming the guests in a pretty twinkle blue chiffon frock made on long lines, and a black baku straw hat trimmed with American beauty roses and pansies. Mrs. Gibson wore black crepe with marquisette, a meteor black straw hat trimmed with flowers, and a corsage of butterfly roses and sweet peas. After a trip to the United States the couple will reside in North Toronto. For travelling the bride chose a smart gray tailored suit with hat and accessories to match and stone martens.

Woman Doing Man's Work Needs Be Twice as Capable And Have Double His Energy

Zonta District III Looks at Serious Side of Modern Life

Gladys Bogue Re-elected By Zonta

SLEEPING ON BOOKS

"To hold the same job as a man, a woman must generally be twice as able and work twice as hard. We must remember that we are still living in a man's world and the millennium for women has not yet arrived," Ada English of Brunswick, N.J., speaking on Modern Trends in Education, declared Saturday, addressing the Zonta district conference at the Royal York.

While it is becoming a little easier for women to get internships and appointment in hospital clinics than in former years, the path is not yet one of roses, the speaker submitted. Executive and professional work means training, study and great responsibility, and if women are to succeed they must have good educational background for the work in which they are engaged, a serious interest in their work and a definite goal, and they must know their emotional and physical possibilities, Miss English contended.

"Education must enable us to make an intelligent adjustment to a complex world. We must become consciously aware of human relationships. In a world of phantasmagoric speed we need all the education and culture we are able to acquire to keep our balance and play our part in the steadying influence upon economic, political and social conditions," she advised.

Understanding Is Needed.

Dealing with the international status of women, Helen Rodgers, Buffalo, emphasized that there is need for closer understanding between the business woman and the homemaker before there can be united action for women's right to work for gain without discrimination because of sex or marital status. It is also important, she stated, that there be better understanding between professional and industrial workers.

Dealing with "Careers for Women in the Retail Field," Violet Symons, Pittsburg, stated that women's field here is as broad as retailing itself. Since it is recognized that women are responsible for 90 per cent. of

At the closing session Sunday Mrs. Gladys Bogue of New York was returned to office as President of District III. Miss Ruth Forsht, Pittsburg, was named Chairman of Region A, and Miss Grace Fields, Trenton, New Jersey, Chairman of Region B.

Miss Mary Zorotkie, directed publicity clinic during breakfast. Miss Harriet Parsons and Miss Lillian Foster acting as doctors discussing the various ills and providing remedies for the publicity committee. Mrs. Horace Van Winkle made a plea for recognition of woman's position in the business and professional world. Invitation to hold the next meeting in New York was accepted. At tea at Wymolwood at which members of the Toronto Club were hostesses, Mrs. H. Warren and Mrs. Hyndman presided.

all practical purposes, Mr. Sanderson advised, if the reader will choose an author who has something worth while to say, and will leave a picture in the memory. There are times when a good detective story or beautiful love story is the thing needed for relaxation, but a steady diet of that sort of thing is a waste of God's good time, the speaker declared, advising his hearers to their influence to encourage young generation to love books. Reading should be something more than a paper aspirin to be taken as a cure for boredom, stated.

Guests at the head table included Mrs. Gladys Bogue, New York, Zonta District President, and a number of Toronto ladies, who were commended with flowers from the Kenmore Club. Dr. Dora Neill Rochester, International Zonta President; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sanderson; Mrs. Christine Docherty, Ithaca, N.Y.; Mrs. B. Buddenham, Kenmore, N.Y.; Miss Grace Bodin; Miss Helen Reynar; Miss I. Waters and Miss Flora Stewart. Miss Marion Copp, delighted by singing of a group of Hebridean folk songs.

Fourteen Women Running For Election at Coast; Twelve New Candidates

Mrs. H. D. Smith, Mrs.
Dorothy Steeves Seek
Their Present Seats

FIVE-PARTY EVENT

Victoria, May 21 (CP).—Fourteen women seek seats in the next British Columbia Legislature at the general election June 1.
Two sat in the last House but the former was the late Mrs.
Mary Ellen Smith, who became the first woman Cabinet Minister in the British Empire when she was given a portfolio in the Oliver Government in 1921.
Liberal women candidates include Mrs. Helen Douglas Smith who won Vancouver-Burrard with G. G. McGee in 1933. The Cooperative Commonwealth Federation is again pitting forward Mrs.
Dorothy Steeves in North Vancouver, which she held for it in a 1934 by-election. Victoria has a chance to make history by electing four women in a quadruple-member riding. They are Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Liberal; Mrs. Margaret Hall, Constructive; Mrs. K. A. Bell, C.C.F.; and Mrs. Oliver Kaudavil, Social Credit.
Liberals named a woman to beat a woman when they chose Mrs.
Edith Turner to take North Vancouver from Mrs. Steeves and the C.C.F. They sent another woman, Mrs. James Barclay, into the C.C.F.
Vancouver East stronghold.
The two-member seat of Vancouver-Burrard has three women, Mrs. H. D. Smith, Liberal; Mrs.
Catherine Burford, Constructive; and Mrs. E. M. Brooks, Social Credit. Mrs. Grace Martin is C.C.F. candidate in the Islands and Mrs.
A. C. Boydell represents the Social Credit League in Esquimalt. Louisabourds would have had an occasional in Cariboo if Miss Jennie E. Barker had not appeared as an independent after prospective opposition dropped out.
Elanor Johnson, former newspaper reporter, who was only 328 votes behind the successful C.C.F. candidate in Burnaby in 1933, is running again as a Government supporter. But there was already a Liberal, W. E. Grievie, in the field when a second convention of Liberals was held. She declared she is a straight Liberal and not an independent. So Burnaby has two Government supporters trying in a seven-cornered contest.

Niagara and Stamford Pay Tribute to Premier's Wife

NIAGARA FALLS, ONT., MAY 21 (CP).

More than 1,300 women of Niagara Falls, Stamford and the riding of W. L. Houck, M.L.A., for Niagara, were presented to Mrs. Mitchell F.
Hepburn, wife of the Premier of Ontario, at a tea given by Mrs.
Houck, yesterday. Mrs. Harry Nixon received with Mrs. Hepburn and the hostess.
The Premier's wife wore black crepe with a white face, with flower motif, and a black mirlin hat with white flowers; Mrs. Nixon was in Coronation blue with touches of yellow and a scarf of the same shade on her back hat. Both wore gifts of their hostess, who was frocked in dark brown net, matching hat and gold accessories. Mrs.
Hepburn and Mrs. Nixon drove from St. Thomas through the blooming district and had luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. Houck at their home.

WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW

IT KEEPS THE GARDEN SAFE.
People are complaining about the ravages of other people's dogs and cats in their particular garden plot. (As a rejoinder we should like to complain about the ravages of humans in God's garden, among His wild flowers—they have it all over both dogs and cats, and the damage is worse, because in a cultivated garden plants can be restored, but once the wild garden is looted by vandals, the flowers therein are gone forever. However, we didn't set out to wall about the destruction of one of having plants disturbed by heedless dogs and cats. The Government tells us that a harmless spray, that is very offensive to animals and that is guaranteed to keep them far from any plant, or flower, can be made from nicotine sulphate. Even when this spray—a diluted solution—is unobscured by humans, the animals will give the plant showered with it a wide berth. The nicotine sulphate is not expensive and can

A Trip to New York

Patricia Card, distinguished Toronto actress, costume designer, and teacher of classes in drama, spent several days in New York recently to study the latest developments in the theatrical arts, and has kindly recorded some of her most vivid impressions for the benefit of Globe and Mail readers. Mrs. Card's work with the Canadian Drama League and as head of a well-known costume studio has qualified her to write with authority of stage presentations. Her article now follows: One always has the feeling on returning from New York that those working in the drama should make a strenuous effort to get down there at least a couple of times each season. Not for the purpose of copying, but on learning for the sake of the contact it gives one with the greater minds of the theatre and the inspiration and vitality that contact gives. Perhaps on first thought one would not think of New York and Shakespeare in the same breath, but perhaps on second thought one would, because Shakespeare has had a very good share of the success of the New York theatre for this past season, and those fortunate enough to have the thrilling experience of seeing "Richard III" with Maurice Evans as Richard, would undoubtedly in after years remember such a visit by the play.

to return to see a play that has carried one away in the manner that "Richard" does is always a risk, but to return to see "Richard" is only to find out what one has really missed. No wonder the house was packed with the most-enthusiastic audience I have seen in New York, wonder the person to my left, who there for the ninth time, for here indeed was an example of the power and possibility of Shakespeare well done. With the aid of three permanent arches and curtains the seventeen scenes were played without a stop, aside from the two fixed inter-missions. Every scene might have been a painted picture. Starting with King Richard's palace with Richard on his throne, we were transported to the Duke of Lancaster's palace, from there to the lists at Coventry, a tent-effect gloriously colorful and smelling of combat.
After returning to the court we were shown the tower of London, and the tower itself with its large stained-glass window and apocryphal stairway.

We started Act II in Windsor Castle, and then repaid to the Wild of Gloucestershire, which was played on the tower, in aid of the entering from the orchestra pit.
Other most effective scenes were Richard's return to England, with the three huge ship-masts towering up the air; the exterior of the palace of the Duke of Gloucester, Richard waits to see Henry; and the death-scene in Pomfret Castle, which was played in the dark except for ghostly rays of light coming from above.
In tune with these spectacular settings were the costumes, the coloring and line of which were a treat to the eye. Yet, of course, one might say Shakespeare is the poetry, not the show, and he had not overlooked that point in this production. Every word counted; the pronunciation, articulation, and tone-values were such as we seldom have the pleasure of hearing. The candle on the forehead of the player holds his position in the play and Maurice Evans leaves one indebted to him for something great added to our life.

Another spectacular production well worth seeing is "The Eternal Road." Brimming with the genius of Max Reinhardt, the production is almost overpowering. Played without a curtain, the scenes are shifted on darkened portions of the stage with the aid of lighting and the music, lighting, and color of this production were unusually fine.
For lighter entertainment, one might suggest Beatrice Lillie in "The Show Off" and the superlucious performance at the French Casing. This latter show, cost the management somewhere in the vicinity of $80,000, its many authentic properties having been brought together from all parts of the world.

Station last night. There were just five of the remainder of the party who had stayed either in Brantford or in Quebec. I was big, just-as-excited as they were. And in between kisses and handshakes, I tried to tell in a few words a glorious time they had. "The Coronation?" "It all," they said. "I saw the whole British Empire. Oh, it was just can't imagine." Shipboard Romance.

Romantic attachment. Something quite serious had opened between one of the girls from New Brunswick and a boy from Ontario on the same boat. Fall for the English. Yes, they said hesitantly, they'd gone over on the boat as the Canadian girls. The English boys were in arriving on the ship. Guided by W. A.

Globe and Mail, and the girls danced on the platform to the rotunda. Station. There was a crowd to meet them. They were laughing, everything.

Might Undermine Ties of Royal Sandwell Tells

Some time in the future the Society of Canada might regret if it established precedent of admitting fellowships for political purposes. K. Sandwell warned tonight.

"Of course, we were proud of the member who had been Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and Sir Robert Borden and if a political upheaval came one of the newer parties and the Premier's government demands, what then?" he asked. The danger, he suggested, was a banquet in Hart House, more than 200 members of the society, would quite probably undermine "You may have any amount of education, but it is not going to do you any good if you have not the right kind of personality," stated Mr. W. J. Dunlop, Director of University Extension, in his address at the graduation exercises of the Margaret Eaton School yesterday afternoon.

To develop that personality, Mr. Dunlop suggested four characteristics that would be useful: Cheerfulness under all circumstances; originality—"the world pays for original ideas," he said; aggressiveness in the right sense—"there must be some driving power," and loyalty to one's principles and one's superiors.

Bishop Renison, rector of St. Paul's Church, presided, and spoke to the graduating class. Diplomas and medals were presented by the

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

A SON.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Eaton, whose son was born yesterday in the Private Patients' Pavilion of the Toronto General Hospital. He was almost a Christmas present for his sister Carol who was a year last October 27. Mr. Eaton was Phyllis Flayson.

WELL TO KNOW

The Royal Alex's press agent was late when we suggested a couple of days ago that Maurice Evans might cancel his tour to take "Henry IV. Part I" right to Broadway. Mr. Evans IS COMING... and after him will be "Room Service" on January 10... and then Cornelia Old Skinner in her monologue dramatization of "Edna His Wife". New York reviews heaped laurels on Miss Skinner's performance and if it's as good as the book we want to be first at the box office. The Irish Abbey Theatre Players have ended their New York engagement and are now on tour... although the date is uncertain they'll be here... their repertoire will include such favorite revivals as Lennox Robinson's "The Far-Off Hills" and the "New Gossoon".

ARMY MARCHES ON ITS STOMACH.

Mr. Eore-Bellah, the British Minister for War, who is more a Beau Brummel than Disraeli ever thought of being, revealed the other day why he has never married. "... Famed for his fine silk shirts which he has specially made on Bond street at great expense... Mr. Bellah disclosed himself to be just as exacting in the matter of food". He has never married, he said, while presenting medals to army cooks at Aldershot, because "my cooking requirements are so exacting I have never been able to find a wife who comes up to the necessary standard". It seems that he was speaking as one gourmet to another, for army fare, at Aldershot anyway, no longer consists of "bully beef". Tommy Atkins' meals are dressed up in greenery and French names; a sample menu offers such dishes of Filet de Boeuf a la Pompadour and Pommes de Terre a la Duchesse. A result, perhaps, of Mr. Bellah's position in the cabinet.

LEGAL POINT.

Major Clifford Sifton is just back from England where Miss Elizabeth has been appealing her father's will before the Privy Council. Judgment has been reserved until February. The late Winfield D. Sifton stipulated that his only child inherit his estate only if she resided in Canada. Major Sifton says no immediate money is involved, Elizabeth receiving beneficial interest in certain properties which are heavily encumbered... but she wants to be free to come and go through two judgments in Canadian courts allow her to make long visits... Elizabeth's mother was originally the American Jean Donaldson. She is now married to Paul Dubonnet who created the widely-known French aperitif and also swings a mean golf club. Since her mother's first remarriage, Elizabeth has lived among her Sifton relatives... attended Elmwood in Ottawa... won a scholarship in languages at the University of Toronto... headed her travelling in Europe for her third... she is a dark-haired
